Ms. Sneha

Assistant Professor

Department of Data Science

I am currently working as Assistant Professor in the Department of Data Science at T. John Institute of Technology. With more than a 3+years of academic experience, I have consistently contributed to student development through effective teaching and mentorship.

I hold an M. Tech from Computer Science & Engineering Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University | 2014 - 2016 and B. Tech. - Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University | 2008 – 2012. My academic background reflects my commitment to continuous learning and professional development in Operating System, Database Management Systems and Computer Networks.

In addition to teaching, I guide students in academic projects and encourage them to participate in extracurricular activities. I also contribute to institutional development by organizing seminars, conferences, and academic events.

Through my knowledge, teaching skills, and commitment to education, I strive to inspire students and contribute to academic excellence in the field of Computer Science.
