

Mr. ALISH GEORGE A

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN ENGLISH, DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

B.A, M.A and M.Phil. (Ph.D. Pursuing) – English Literature

alishgeorge@tjohngroup.com

'Teachers shape worlds by shaping Minds'

Embarking on a career in teaching fills me with immense excitement, as it allows me to contribute to the noble profession that holds the key to societal development. Recognizing the transformative power of education, I am committed to imparting not only knowledge but also fostering skill-based learning for the comprehensive growth of my students. Viewing teaching as a challenging yet rewarding position, I aim to channel my knowledge and experience to illuminate the path for my students' future success. Embracing the role with pride, I understand the profound impact a teacher can have on shaping the trajectory of each student's life.

Beyond academic pursuits, I strive to instill a sense of social responsibility in my students, emphasizing the collective power we possess to bring about positive change in society. Through education, I believe we can empower individuals to not only excel academically but also become agents of positive transformation in the wider community. In essence, teaching is not just a profession for me, it is a calling to contribute meaningfully to the holistic development of each student and to inspire them to be active contributors to positive societal change.

I have a diverse professional journey that spans across different roles and locations. Beginning as an Assistant Professor in English at Don Bosco College, Yellagiri, Tamil Nadu, I dedicated one year (2018-2019) to imparting knowledge in the academic setting. Subsequently, I transitioned to Bangalore, where I served as a Communication Trainer for one year at Don Bosco Skill Mission, focusing on practical communication skills. In 2020, I embarked on a new academic pursuit by commencing my Ph.D. in English at Christ University, Bangalore, a journey I am currently actively pursuing. Concurrently, I am contributing to the academic field as an Assistant Professor in English at T. John College, Bangalore.

Conference/ Workshop/ Seminar Attended

- Participated in the International Conference on Innovations in the Teaching of English Language and Literature (ICITELL) on New Directions in Language Research at VIT University, Vellore. (2018)
- Participated and presented a paper in one day international conference on Feminine Mystique: Prognostic of Supremacy in Sukirtharani's Anthology on February 14, 2019.

International and National /Papers Published and Presented

- Paper published in International Conference on The Problems of Translation in Poetryat VIT University, Vellore. (2017)
- Paper published in International Conference on Feministic Approach in NamitaGoKhale'sParo: Dreams of Passion at Madurai. (2017)
- Paper published in International Conference on Ice-Candy-Man at Bargur.(2017)
- Paper published in National Conference on Black Feminism at Annamali University, Chidambaram.(2018)
- Paper published in National Conference on Psychological and Emotional Approach in Kamala Das' My Story at Krishnagiri.(2018)
- Paper published in International Conference on The Growth and Empowerment of Women in Alice Walker's The Color Purple on February 1,2019.