EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS FOR FRESH GRADUATES FOR BETTER CAREER PLACEMENTS

What are Employability Skills?

Employability skills are essential for any job and span across all industries. They include both hard and soft skills and are needed for success in the workplace. These skills are essential for fresh graduates who lack in-field experience and must showcase their skills to land their first career opportunities.

1. Hard Skills: Skills that are technical in nature and are specific to the job such as coding, sound engineering, language translation, etc.

2. Soft Skills: Skills that are non-technical in nature, such as communication, teamwork, problem-solving, time management, leadership, etc.

Acquiring Employability skills is crucial for fresh graduates to bridge the gap between academia and industry. Fresh graduates with employability skills improve their hire ability chances, increase their earning potentials, and foster their professional development. “Soft skills are the most important skills employers watch out for as they are difficult to teach and have far-reaching impacts on productivity and communication”.

Key Employability Skills for Fresh Graduates

Communication

1. Excellent oral and written skills.
2. Active listening skills.
3. The ability to communicate clearly and respectfully with co-workers and managers.

Teamwork and Collaboration

1. Working collaboratively to meet collective goals.
2. The ability to contribute positively to group projects.
3. Respect for diversity and the ability to work with people from different backgrounds and cultures.

Problem Solving and Critical Thinking

1. Logical thinking and sound decision-making abilities.
2. The ability to evaluate different perspectives and ideas.
3. The ability to analyse complex information and extract the main points.

Acquiring Employability skills is essential for fresh graduates who are faced with limited opportunities in a competitive job market. By understanding what these skills are and developing strategies for acquiring them, you can improve your hire ability and earning potential, and ultimately achieve professional success.
